#456 The safest way to open up opportunities worldwide.

Performance apparel textiles don't just protect against fire, water, the cold, viruses and bullets.

They can also combat business pessimism and economic depression – when you present them in the right environment: Techtextil.

This is where highly relevant industry players meet: from research and development to design and implementation, from complicated custom pieces to global mass production machinery.

When high-tech materials meet smart processing, it creates additional business opportunities. And Texprocess is taking place alongside Techtextil, combining AI-powered processing technologies with even more relevant customers.

That's what makes this the most important international meeting place for you as an exhibitor: to gain expertise, contacts and business opportunities. The result is the most important trade fair in the technical textile industry, across all materials and technologies.

Just one reason among thousands why the future is bright.

#900 Begin a beautiful business relationship or two. Or 100.

#10 Meet your real-life action heroes.

If you want your innovative performance materials to influence tomorrow's textile applications, then make sure others experience them at Techtextil.

Demonstrate to product developers, designers, garment manufacturers and buyers just how well your high-tech materials perform.

- As part of the Performance Apparel Textiles area, you'll be exhibiting in Hall 9.0 alongside some 150 other suppliers.
- Over 40 exhibitors from the textile chemicals and dyes sector will be presenting there. They'll showcase process materials, finishing chemicals and dyes used to manufacture technical and performance textiles.
- Techtextil is right next door to Texprocess in Hall 8.0, encouraging encounters with just the right decision-makers from the clothing industry.
- To display your performance apparel textiles in the best light to potential business partners, 'Performance Textiles on Stage' is a special fashion show with selected products from exhibitors.
